

ROBIN COVINGTON

Sizzling romance. Burning up the sheets. . .one page at a time.

A USA Today bestseller, Robin Covington loves to explore the theme of fooling around and falling in love in her books. Her stories burn up the sheets. . .one page at a time. When she's not writing she's collecting tasty man candy, indulging in a little comic book geek love, hoarding red nail polish and stalking Chris Evans.

A 2016 RITA® Award finalist in the novella category, Robin's books have won the National Reader's Choice and Golden Leaf Awards and finaled in the Romantic Times Reviewer's Choice, the Book Seller's Best and the Award of Excellence.

She lives in Maryland with her handsome husband, her two brilliant children (they get it from her, of course!), and her beloved furbabies, Dutch and Dixie Joan Wilder.
